

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT TACOMA

TIMJAE A. D'ALLO,

Case No. 3:24-cv-05325-TMC

Plaintiff,

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S
MOTION TO APPOINT COUNSEL

V.

STEPHANIE MODRIJAN et al.,

Defendant.

Before the Court is pro se Plaintiff Timjae D’allo’s motion to appoint counsel. Dkt. 12. For the reasons explained below, the Court DENIES Mr. D’allo’s motion.

I. BACKGROUND

Mr. D'allo initiated this case by moving to proceed in forma pauperis ("IFP") on April 30, 2024. Dkt. 1. His motion included a proposed complaint that consisted of three parts: (1) a handwritten complaint on the Court's form for pro se civil rights litigants, Dkt. 1-1; (2) an attachment with a narrative description of Mr. D'allo's claims alleging that state employees supervising his term of community custody with the Washington Department of Corrections violated his constitutional rights, Dkt. 1-3 at 1–4; and (3) exhibits that Mr. D'allo contended supported the allegations in his complaint, Dkt. 1-3 at 5–105. Dkt. 7 at 2. The IFP motion was referred to United States Magistrate Judge David W. Christel, who issued a Report and

1 Recommendation (“R&R”) recommending that the proposed complaint be dismissed for failure
2 to state a claim and the IFP application denied. Dkt. 5. Mr. D’allo filed timely objections to 3 Judge Christel’s R&R. Dkt. 6. Because at least some defects in Mr. D’allo’s initial complaint
4 could be cured by the allegation of other facts, this Court adopted the R&R in part and declined
5 it in part, dismissing Mr. D’allo’s complaint, but granting him leave to file a proposed amended
6 complaint. Dkt. 7. Mr. D’allo filed a proposed amended complaint, Dkt. 8., and on September
7 26, 2024, the Court granted his motion to proceed IFP, Dkt. 9, and file his complaint, Dkt. 10.

8 On October 22, 2024, Mr. D’allo filed this motion asking the Court to appoint counsel to 9 represent him in the lawsuit. Dkt. 12. Mr. D’allo’s amended complaint asserts claims under 42
10 U.S.C. § 1983 alleging Defendants, eight state employees with the Washington Department of 11 Corrections, violated his due process rights by using excessive force against him during his arrest
12 and imposing unlawful probation conditions. Dkt. 10 at 4. Mr. D’allo’s complaint also alleges
13 claims of false imprisonment, intentional infliction of emotional distress, and official misconduct
14 under RCW 9.80.0104. Id.

15 Mr. D’allo requests court-appointed counsel because he has unsuccessfully sought legal 16 representation from “several (more than 5) attorneys.” Dkt. 12 at 2. He states in support of his 17 application that “[a]ll attorneys contacted have declined to join in this case and represent me
18 without me providing funds that I do not have.” Id.

19 II. DISCUSSION

20 There is no constitutional right to appointed counsel in an action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983.
21 Storseth v. Spellman, 654 F.2d 1349, 1353 (9th Cir. 1981); see also United States v. $292,888.04
22 in U.S. Currency, 54 F.3d 564, 569 (9th Cir. 1995) (“[a]ppointment of counsel under this section
23 is discretionary, not mandatory.”). In “exceptional circumstances,” the Court may appoint

1 counsel for indigent civil litigants pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1). Rand v. Rowland, 113
 2 F.3d 1520, 1525 (9th Cir. 1997), overruled on other grounds, 154 F.3d 952 (9th Cir. 1998).

3 The Court must evaluate (1) “the likelihood of success on the merits” and (2) “the ability
 4 of the petitioner to articulate his claims pro se in light of the complexity of the legal issues
 5 involved” when assessing whether there are exceptional circumstances warranting appointment
 6 of counsel. Wilborn v. Escalderon, 789 F.2d 1328, 1331 (9th Cir. 1986) (quoting Weygdant v.
 7 Look, 718 F.2d 952, 954 (9th Cir. 1983)). Neither factor is dispositive and “must be viewed
 8 together before reaching a decision on request of counsel[.]” Id.

9 Exceptional circumstances may exist where the litigant has an insufficient grasp of the 10 legal issues involved or is unable to state the factual bases of their claims. See Agyeman v. Corr.
 11 Corp. of Am., 390 F.3d 1101, 1103–04 (9th Cir. 2004) (appointing counsel where case was 12 unusually complex due to case law and litigant’s circumstances), cert. denied sub nom., Gerber
 13 v. Agyeman, 545 U.S. 1128 (2005). While “any pro se litigant certainly would be better served 14 with the assistance of counsel,” a litigant requesting counsel must show more than that benefit.
 15 Rand, 113 F.3d at 1525. They must show that they are unable to articulate their position because 16 of the complexity of their claims. See id.

17 The Court’s resources for appointing counsel are limited and must be reserved for those 18 cases meeting the standard discussed above. While the Court appreciates Mr. D’allo’s
 19 application for counsel and the information he has provided, he has not identified circumstances
 20 rendering his case “exceptional” or of such complexity that warrants appointment of counsel.
 21 The Court recognizes that Mr. D’allo is proceeding IFP and satisfies the standard for indigency.
 22 See Dkt. 9. However, Mr. D’allo’s unsuccessful attempt to contact “several (more than 5)
 23 attorneys” at this early stage of litigation does not indicate that additional efforts to find counsel
 24 will not succeed. See Dkt. 12 at 2. Additionally, the case has not yet proceeded beyond the

1 pleading stage, and it is too early for the Court to evaluate Mr. D'allo's likelihood of success.
2 Although the Court dismissed Mr. D'allo's initial complaint, he filed successful objections to the 3 Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation, and he was granted leave to cure defects in his
4 due process and excessive force claims under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Dkt. 6; Dkt. 7 at 12–13. Mr.
5 D'allo then amended his complaint to add factual allegations to support his remaining claims,
6 and this Court granted him leave to proceed IFP. Dkt. 8 at 2–4; Dkt. 9. Mr. D'allo has shown that
7 he is able to file pleadings and motions in the case and explain the basis for his allegations.
8 While Mr. D'allo may benefit from the assistance of legal counsel, he has not shown the case
9 exhibits significant complexity, a likelihood of success on the merits, or that he is unable to 10 articulate his claims. See Agyeman at 1103–04; Rand, 113 F.3d at 1525.

11 III. CONCLUSION

12 This case does not present extraordinary circumstances warranting the appointment of 13 counsel. The Court therefore DENIES Mr. D'allo's motion (Dkt. 12). The Court encourages
14 Mr. D'allo to review this District's resources for pro se litigants, available at 15 <https://www.wawd.uscourts.gov/representing-yourself-pro-se>, including the Federal Bar
16 Association's civil rights legal clinic, with more information available at 17 <https://www.kcba.org/?pg=Neighborhood-Legal-Clinics>.

18 The Clerk is directed to send uncertified copies of this Order to all counsel of record and 19 to any party appearing pro se at said party's last known address.
